

The Criminal Justice System's response to domestic violence

About the workshop

This one-day workshop is suitable for professionals and individuals who wish to develop an understanding of the criminal justice system as it relates to Domestic Violence, and the procedures involved in making a complaint of domestic violence to the police.

The workshop will examine new developments in responding to domestic violence and protection available to victims. The workshop will be delivered in an experiential style and will give the participant an in depth understanding of rape laws and the criminal justice system relating to rape.

Delivery method

The workshop will be delivered by highly trained Independent Sexual Advocates with a high-level of experience in working with clients who access the criminal justice system, and will draw upon their own expertise and working practice to complement the taught elements of the programme.

Learning objectives

On completion of this module the participant will:

- Understand the main orders available to women experiencing domestic violence.
- Understand the process involved when making a complaint.
- Understand the police procedures in relation to domestic violence.
- Examine new developments in the areas of protection and prosecution in relation to domestic violence.
- Understand the role of the specialist domestic violence courts and the special measures available to support a victim in court such as video evidence, screening etc.

Course costs vary depending on the number of participants and location of training. To discuss your requirements, or to find out about further programmes and our bespoke training and consultancy services, please contact Eva Training & Consultancy on 01642 490 677 or go to www.eva-training.org.uk